

Rules:

Membership to this site is optional and by joining and choosing to participate you will also need to abide by the rules set out. As new experiences occur the administrators may be required to act, and these rules may be updated.

Through the alumni website, alumni participate in an established network, keep up with friends, communicate with each other about career and school experiences, and become one family.

Alumni User Rights and Responsibilities:

As an alumnus of Mazars, you have certain rights and responsibilities regarding the service's use. Please familiarise yourself with these rules as we build our community together.

- Respecting the rights and privacy of other users
- Respecting the intended use of resources
- Respecting the intended use of systems for electronic exchange, such as email
- Respecting the security and integrity of the network
- Adhering to all general policies and procedures
- Content shared is for members only and should not be redistributed to any third party unless permission has been sought, and such permission should be unanimous.
- No jokes, religious and political opinions, hate speech, racism, and vulgar language is allowed.
- Respect your peers and ensure your posts are inoffensive and not inclined to provocation.
- No advertising or spam should be allowed.
- Do not expect responses immediately provide administrators at least 24 hours for them to respond.
- Try where possible, to keep to the aim of the group.
- Mazars expects community members to exhibit the same level of respect for others in this forum as in any other alumni association, venue or event (such as at a reunion event).

Minimum Standards

- Information published on alumni websites should be as accurate and up to date.
- Check your sources before sharing information that may be fake (or old) news
- Mazars expects community members to exhibit the same level of respect for others in this forum as in any other alumni association venue (such as at a reunion event).

Infringement

It must be understood that administrators will take Infringement of rules seriously and it may result in the member/s being removed from the website.
